REPORT KELLOGG TO RESIGN

Today

Young Chicago, Aged 90
No Accidental Success
Hatreds Die Away
Science Goes Ahead

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

[illegible] years ago, yesterday, Chicago [illegible] with more than [illegible] population. Now the [illegible] 3,000,000 and Chicago is [illegible] in city in the world in size. [illegible] a whole settlement around [illegible] in constantly in danger of [illegible] Indiana. Judge E. H. Gary, [illegible] father, who went to Chicago [illegible] could not be "fooled into buying [illegible] on the muddy edge of [illegible]. That farm is the [illegible] now, and would [illegible] Stockholders. Everything [illegible] worth [illegible] everything especially.

The senate adjourned as the clock [illegible] 12 yesterday, honorable [illegible] proved, by preventing [illegible] and useful legislation, [illegible] General Dawes is right and senate [illegible] need reorganizing.

DR. BURTON, chemist, retires as president of Indiana Standard. He increased by billions of dollars the value of the national oil supply by inventing the "cracking process" that doubles the amount of gasoline [illegible] from a given amount of oil. [illegible] a "making two blades of grass grow in place of one" on a billion-dollar scale.

No success that lasts is accidental, and that applies to Standard Oil.

Elvard G. Seubert, succeeding Dr. Burton as president, went to work for Standard Oil when he was a boy, has been with the company 35 years, and is now president. When an opportunity offers in Standard Oil it is given to some one that has been in the organization for years. Railroads that pick and choose around the country for important executives might think that over.

Mr. Kingsbury, head of Standard Oil of California, says: "You can't find an ex-Standard Oil board a man that can't get grow up with the organization."

THE biggest wars are soon forgotten. Over a direct cable from the United States to Germany, opened yesterday, President Coolidge wired President Hindenburg his hope that "this addition means of communication will promote mutual understanding and good will between the two countries." And President Hindenburg replied most politely. Germany, rid of an expensive [illegible] expensive standing army, and [illegible] expensive Kaiser, attends to business and goes ahead more rapidly than any other country in Europe.

THE latest German enterprise will [illegible] electricity from ocean water. [illegible] surface waters of tropical seas will "transform liquid carbonic acid into a gasiform carbonic acid," the tropical sea water being used as a fuel. After the gasiform acid has been utilized, it is retransformed into a liquid state by cold water pumped from lower depths of the same sea.

GERMAN scientists expect by this method to produce electricity at 10 per cent. of the present cost. If Europe's International Steel Trust can develop cheap electricity in that way [illegible] a good supply of iron ore or iron scrap, it will turn out steel by the electric process at a price bound to cause hard thinking by Pittsburgh and other places made wealthy by iron and coal close together.

THE big steel company knows the danger and plans for steel production by electricity, building at least one [illegible] having great ore deposits in Brazil and elsewhere close to cheap water power.

BISHOP JAMES WISE of Chicago [illegible] Episcopalians: "Unless America [illegible] a halt in its mad rush for wealth and pleasure national moral destruction is at the end of the road."

That has been said often in the past, sometimes when conditions were much worse than they are now.

[illegible] every new baby is a [illegible] injured by what happened before it was born; every generation is a new volume.

Back of the human race, controlling [illegible] is a power higher than that of politicians, dance halls or a depressed [illegible].

In New York, on Thursday night, 20,000 [illegible] first-class lowbrows paid $175,000 to see a second-class prize fight. But [illegible] serious. The children of [illegible] may not be at all interested in [illegible] which of two second-class fighters can knock the other unconscious.

[illegible] civilization has cannibalism, [illegible] brutality for its foundation. A [illegible] crowd simply represents [illegible] of the cannibalistic instinct [illegible] the courage to do its [illegible].

ONE MAN KILLED, SEVEN INJURED IN EXPLOSION

[illegible], Mass., Mar. 5—One man was killed and a woman and six firemen injured in an explosion at the factory of the Haverhill Shoe Trimming Co. here today. The explosion, which could be heard for blocks, tore the building apart and shattered scores of windows. Joseph Berman, owner of the factory, was killed.

RESIGNATION TO BE GIVEN THIS SUMMER, BELIEF

Poor Health Likely To Be Reason Assigned by Secretary of State

DENIALS CONTINUE

Dwight Morrow, New York Banker, Frequently Mentioned as Successor

Washington, Mar. 5—Despite emphatic denials from the White House and state department that Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg is going to resign, International News Service learned today that it is quite probable he will give up his post before the summer is far advanced.

The reason probably will be poor health. Secretary Kellogg is approaching his seventy-first year, and is now in South Carolina taking a vacation which has been urged upon him by President Coolidge. His health, never robust, has suffered greatly this winter under the strain of carrying a heavy load in the Mexican and Nicaraguan controversies.

The unusual persistence of the reports that the secretary of state would shortly retire, even in the face of strong denial from President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg himself, has surprised official Washington.

Future Resignation

Today there was another periodical rumor going around that he already had resigned. It met with the customary denial at the White House and state department. Two of Secretary Kellogg's cabinet colleagues, however, when asked about the rumors, gave these answers:

"Not yet, probably in a couple of months."

"He hasn't resigned yet, but probably will by June 1."

According to some of the secretary's friends, he would have retired before this had it not been for the critical state of affairs in Latin America, including Mexico, and the savage assaults made upon his policies in the senate. To have retired any time during the present session of congress would have smacked of going "under fire" and both Secretary Kellogg and President Coolidge were unwilling to have any such impression get about.

The senate has now filed away from Washington for nearly nine months, and state department officials contemplate with satisfaction a long period in which their policies will not be subjected to the critical scrutiny and outspoken condemnation that has characterized the session just ended. Hence a resignation early in the summer could not be construed as a retirement "under fire."

The ever-recurring reports of Kellogg's resignation have been accompanied by keen speculation in Washington as to his successor.

Morrow Is Mentioned

Dwight Morrow, the New York banker who is perhaps President Coolidge's most intimate adviser, has frequently been mentioned. Morrow comes and goes at the White House in much the same manner that Col. E. M. House used to come and go in the Wilson administration. He was a classmate of the president's at Amherst.

Sen. Irvin L. Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, was freely speculated upon until yesterday, when he retired from the senate and announced his connection with a prominent capital law firm. Lenroot led the administration fight for the World Court in the senate, and it had been reported he was to get a federal appointment by way of reward. Lenroot said, however, he didn't want any federal post.

One of the latest "mentionables" in the event of Kellogg's retirement is Sen. George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, who also retired yesterday. Not much credence was placed in this, however, as President Coolidge thus far has studiously refrained from appointing any "lame ducks" to important posts. It is understood, however, that Pepper would have the backing of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

See Relief in Tax Trouble With Approval of New Rates By State Tax Commission

Expect To Start County Collections Shortly After Mar. 15; Auditing and Treasury Forces Rushing Work; Schools Forced To Borrow

Relief from the acute tax collection situation in Marion County, which has forced county schools to borrow from banks to meet current operating expenses, was in sight today as the State Tax Commission gave its approval of the new rates following the reappraisal of county property.

To forestall further borrowing every effort will be made by the forces in the offices of County Auditor Budge C. Decker and County Treasurer James E. Messenger to start collections shortly after Mar. 15, it was announced.

Nearly a week will be required by the auditing force to get the duplicates ready to turn over to the treasurer, it is estimated. Another week will be required to prepare the receipts from the duplicates in the treasurer's office, Mr. Messenger said today.

This acute situation in the county's tax collection situation, declared to be the worst in the history of the county, grew out of the failure of the State Tax Commission to make an earlier approval of the new rates. In this the state body is not responsible, county officials point out, in view of the fact that it has been called upon to consider and approve the rates in many other Ohio communities where reappraisals have just been made.

According to records in the county auditor's office the reappraisal of Marion County property was completed Oct. 12 and the State Tax Commission notified at once. Forced to postpone its trip to Marion to look over the rates no action was taken by the commission until this morning.

With the treasury depleted because collection of taxes was postponed pending action of the tax commission, schools in the county were unable to make advance draws. To tide them over until collections started rural school boards were forced to borrow funds from banks. This borrowing will be discontinued and refunds made as soon as tax collections start coming in, officials say.

ENJOY HOLIDAY WHEN MARINES STAGE PARADE

American Colony in Shanghai Watch Col. Hill's "Devil Dogs"

Shanghai, Mar. 5—The American colony in Shanghai today declared a half holiday, turning out in force to witness the United States Marines from the U. S. S. Chaumont and U. S. S. Pecos parade through the international seetlement, the first American troops to be landed.

The famous "devil dogs," led by Col. Charles Hill, were warmly greeted along their line of march. Preceded by a marine band, the "first to fight" men 1,350 strong, constituted an impressive, and to the Americans, a reassuring sight.

Would Cut Off Shanghai

An important struggle, constituting the Nationalists' final test of strength, is developing in the vicinity of Soochow where the Nationalists are making a thrust from Chekiang province in an attempt to cut off Shanghai from the main An Kuo-Chun army. The Nationalists obviously intend to seize the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, thus consolidating their procession before proceeding further toward Shanghai.

General An Kuo-Chun is joyfully preparing for a major engagement. He is rushing reinforcements to Soochow, with the result that a most important clash at Wukiang, near Soochow, is in progress.

DAUGHERTY RETURNING TO HOME IN COLUMBUS

New York, Mar. 5—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general in President Harding's administration, cleared of charges of conspiracy to defraud the government, today was planning to go back to his home in Columbus; where he started his original practice of law. He has no intention of retiring from active duties.

MANSFIELD MAYOR IS TOLD TO CLEAN UP CITY

Governor Donahey Writes Executive of Complaints Reaching Him

Columbus, Mar. 5—Instructions to "clean up" Mansfield have been issued by Gov. Vic Donahey to Mayor J. Earl Ports, of that city, it was stated today at the governor's office.

The governor, it was said, has written the mayor informing him of complaints lodged with Donahey which alleged that slot machines and punch boards were being illegally operated at Mansfield and that other forms of gambling prevailed there.

Edwards Gymnasium, Delaware, Mar. 5—Flushed with the triumph of having two out of three entries in the Class B. basketball tournament here survive the tests of the first round, Marion County cage enthusiasts were overtaken by the stinging disappointment of a double defeat, when Prospect and Caledonia, victors Friday, were beaten by Upper Arlington and Gambier respectively in this morning's round of play.

Matched against teams able to display a superior brand of basketball, neither of the Marion County contingents seemed to have the dash that characterized their play yesterday. Prospect managed to net but four free throws during the first two periods in the game with the Franklin County Class B. champions. A belated rally in the closing minutes of the fray pushed the tally to 22 to 19 at the finish. Upper Arlington was never in danger.

Caledonia Game Farce

Caledonia's game with Gambier was nothing short of a farce. Two field goals and two foul goals were chalked up by the Marion County crew and therein is told the story of its scoring. Gambier players never once exerted themselves in ringing up the 23 to 6 victory.

Upper Arlington and Gambier are both considered strong contenders for

URUGUAYAN AVIATORS ARE FOUND NEAR CAPE JUBY

No Details Received in Meager Report from West African Coast

Paris, Mar. 5—Later report says Uruguayn aviators have not been found but their wrecked motor found.

Paris, Mar. 5—Major Larre-Borges, Uruguayan aviator, who has been lost for three days since he departed from Casablanca on the second leg of a transatlantic flight, has been found 60 miles northeast of Cape Juby on the northwest coast of Africa, according to a meager report received here today.

No details of the finding of the men were received.

Major Larre-Borges and his colleagues hopped off from Casablanca for the Canary Islands but their being located off Cape Juby would indicate they have changed their plans and headed for the West African coast.

The message received here did not state whether Larre-Borges and his colleagues had suffered any injuries or whether they had been in an accident.

A later brief report stated that Major Larre-Borges and his three comrades were all safe.

50 DETECTIVES STAGE BATTLE WITH RUNNERS

Four Bootleggers Captured in Attempt To Steal Bonded Whisky in Chicago

Chicago, Mar. 5—More than 50 detectives and federal prohibition agents today staged a gun battle with five members of a notorious bootlegging gang, captured four of them and probably wounded a fifth, who escaped. More than $500,000 in pre-war bonded liquor was saved.

The fight occurred at a bonded liquor warehouse after authorities learned attempts would be made to steal the stock.

The rum hunners, all members of the William "Klondike" O'Donnell gang, had rigged up siphoning equipment and were pumping the liquor through more than two miles of garden hose to a nearby house they had rented when the fight began.

Exhaust Ammunition

O'Donnell and James "Fur" Sammons, the leader and lieutenant of the gang were superintendenting the operation when, as a given signal the powerful beams of a searchlight were focused upon them.

Immediately the firing began. It was only after their ammunition was exhausted that O'Donnell and Simmons surrendered. John Barry and John Lewis were the other members captured.

The warehouse contained the only real pre-war whisky in Chicago, agents said. More than $200,000 of the whisky had been siphoned into barrels when the shooting began.

PROTESTS INNOCENCE

Convicted Mansfield Slayer Accuses Young Woman of Murders

Columbus, Mar. 5—With death, seemingly, just in the offing, George W. Thoma, 23, Mansfield, stood beside the door of his cell in Ohio Penitentiary today.

Protesting his innocence, the young condemned prisoner voiced the accusation that a young woman, an acquaintance of his, had either committed the double murder, for which he had been sentenced to die, or had induced some one else to do it.

He said he had under consideration the advisability of making a public statement specifically charging this woman with having murdered Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Greenawald, Mansfield.

"She knows she is safe, as long as I keep my mouth shut," declared Thoma.

Facing probable electrocution on Apr. 8, next, as decreed by the trial judge, Thoma was received at the big state prison Dec. 23, last, convicted of murdering Mr. and Mrs. Greenwald.

DENIES FATALITIES

Washington, Mar. 5—Emphatic denial was made by the navy department today that any American marines have been killed in clashes in Nicaragua, as reported by travelers arriving in Los Angeles on the steamer, Venezuela.

COMMISSIONERS REFUSE AID IN PAVING PROJECT

Board Contends W. Center-st Improvement Is Strictly Municipal Proposition

NO VOTE IS TAKEN

Officials Say Lending Aid Would Establish Dangerous Precedent in County

County aid in financing the re-paving of W. Center-st, recently requested by local business men interested in plans for the improvement, will not be granted, according to information which came today from a member of the Marion County Board of Commissioners.

The board has unanimously agreed, this member stated, that the Center-st improvement is strictly a city project, and that the county would not be justified in sharing the cost. The board's viewpoint has been made known to officers of the West Center Street Improvement Association, who submitted the request for county aid, and who indicate that they will make no effort to continue negotiations with the commissioners.

The request was made informally and discussions between the commissioners and W. Center-st representatives have also been informal throughout. No vote was taken by the commissioners, decision against granting the request for county aid having been reached through verbal agreement.

In proposing that the county pay a percentage of the paving expense, officers of the W. Center-st organization pointed out that city taxpayers contribute approximately $100,000 annually to the county road fund, which is $20,000 more than the amount coming from the rural districts.

It was maintained that at least a small part of this $100,000 should be used in helping finance upkeep and improvement of main city thoroughfares which are parts of county highways. The commissioners were told that this applied especially to Center-st, Marion's most important thoroughfare.

The fact that W. Center-st property

CALL GRAND JURY AFTER QUESTIONING OF MAZER

Streitenberger Likely To Be Arraigned at Canton Monday or Tuesday

Canton, Mar. 5 — Strong indication that unconfirmed reports that a complete confession of the plot which resulted in the murder of Don R. Mellett, crusading publisher of the Canton Daily News, here last July, is in the hands of county authorities was given here today, although official confirmation of the reports was unobtainable this afternoon.

Canton, Mar. 5—After questioning Louis Mazer, Canton underworld character, third man indicted for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, Prosecutor Henry Harter, Jr., today called a special session of the Stark County Grand Jury for Tuesday next.

Mazer is awaiting trial which was scheduled to start here Mar. 10, next.

Prosecutor Harter refused to give out any information regarding the conference.

One theory advanced by those close to the situation had Mazer changing his former stories and giving information which he has so far withheld, hoping to thereby delay his own trial in favor of Streitenberger's and possibly escape trial on the charge of first degree murder, by pleading guilty to a lesser charge.

Streitenberger probably will be arraigned Monday or Tuesday.

SCENES OF TERRIBLE DESOLATION REPORTED

Capetown, Mar. 5—Scenes of terrible desolation in Tamatave and other towns on the east coast of Madagascar are reported in wireless dispatches received from Port Louis today.

The cyclone which swept Madagascar on Thursday is reported not only to have cost many lives but to have done enormous property damage. Full details are coming in very slowly as the Port Louis wireless station is the only means of communication now available.

The Tamatave wireless station, the customs sheds, piers and offices are reported to have been destroyed.

Small craft in the harbor were destroyed and the steamer Armanda and the schooner Elizabeth were sunk.

There has been no news from the steamer, Solsten, which put to sea to avoid the cyclone.

An early report was that 500 persons were killed in the devastating cyclone.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF AMERICAN IN MEXICO

Rene B. Creager, Former National Committeeman, Narrowly Escapes

Mexico City, Mar. 5—Government inquiries are being made today into the death of Albert Delcamp, an American, and the narrow escape of Rene B. Creager of Brownsville, Tex., during a clash between Agrarians and workers of the La Gloria sugar plantation in Vera Cruz, according to dispatches received here.

One report states that Delcampo, who came to Mexico with Creager, who is a Republican national committeeman from Texas, was killed in an attack on the La Gloria plantation while another report states that his death was during a fight between two Mexican factions.

Another dispatch states that Alberto Betanzo, a Mexican engineer residing in Brownsville, also was killed.

Creager is understood to be enroute to Mexico City with the body of Delcampo, whose wife is here awaiting definite news. Delcampo was known as a friend of the Agrarians. He was associated with the Bank of Montreal. Betanzo is said to have been an official of the federal department of communications.

Creager came to Mexico to visit the La Gloria plantation. He is one of the best known business men in the southwest and has long been prominent in Republican politics in Texas. He was closely associated with the Harding administration and at one time was reported as a likely American ambassador to Mexico.

FOUR IN BOMB PLOT

Accuse Gang of Buying Furniture, Blowing it up for Insurance

Cleveland, Mar. 5—Four Italians believed to have knowledge of bomb plots in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Niles, Warren and Youngstown, Ohio, are being held today by Pittsburgh police, according to word from local detectives.

The men were arrested in Cleveland and turned over to the Pennsylvania authorities.

According to local authorities, a gang, of which the four suspects were members, had a unique system of buying furniture, insuring it, and then blowing it up.

TWO HURT WHEN LIQUOR, CONFISCATED, EXPLODES

Washington, Mar. 5—Two negro employes were injured, one seriously, when some high-powered confiscated liquor exploded today in the chemistry laboratory of the Internal revenue bureau.

The liquor, together with some chemicals used in denaturing alcohol, had been discarded into an ash can when, without warning, the concoction exploded and sent a sheet of flame to the ceiling. Considerable excitement was caused but no material property damage was done.

Crew of Burning Freighter is Rescued from Lifeboats Tossed on Stormy Seas

NEW YORK, Mar. 5—Another epic of the seas awaited the telling today as the Spanish freight steamer, Cabo Torres, neared this port bearing the 35 members of the crew of another Spanish freighter, the Cabo Hatteras, which burned at sea last night 130 miles off New York.

Forced to abandon their ship, which had been converted into a floating inferno, the Cabo Hatteras men were rescued from their lifeboats after being tossed perilously about for an hour and a half in the darkness on the huge waves rolled up by a 60-mile an hour gale. No lives were lost in the disaster, latest wireless reports from the scene indicated.

Only the barest details of the rescue were known today. The first frantic wireless call for aid which told of a fire that left the Cabo Hatteras' crew at the mercy of the sea and flames, was intercepted late yesterday. Soon five steamers, varying in distance from 20 miles to ten hours' steaming from the scene, reported that they were racing toward the stricken vessel.

For an hour and a half intermittent wireless messages from the Cabo Hatteras told of the progress of the flames and the desperate flight of the crew.

The Cabo Torres, a ship which had not heretofore been heard from, announced that she had located and rescued the Cabo Hatteras crew from their lifeboats.

The extent of the damage to the freighter was not known, but was believed to have been great. The Cabo Torres announced she had the stricken vessel in tow.

MARION OVERLAND CO. TO CLOSE EXHIBIT TONIGHT

More Than 1,000 Visit Display at Night; Many Models Are Shown

What may be considered one of the most successful showings of motor cars held in Marion will come to a close this night at the new home of the Marion Overland Co., 500 W. Center st.

This advance spring display of three makes and five classes of cars, including 20 new models, valued at more than $25,000, opened Thursday.

More than 1,000 individuals visited the company's show rooms last night, according to a check kept by officials. An even larger turnout is expected tonight. Many rural residents were expected to visit the garage and inspect the new line of cars this afternoon.

Assisting in presenting the spring display are Frank Sisson, representative of the Willys-Overland plant, Toledo; A. F. Castner, Columbus, representative of the Fisk Tire & Rubber Co. and C. E. Snyder, district representative of the Fisk Tire & Rubber Co. The Marion-Overland branch in Toledo also is represented by loaning the company one of the featured displays, the Willys-Knight great six cabriolet.

Probably the feature of the show is the new group of Whippet sixes, built along the general line of the Lightning sixes of this car. This new product has a bore of three inches, a stroke of [illegible] inches and a displacement of [illegible] cubic inches. The rated energy is 21.6 horsepower, but a maximum development of 40 horsepower is reached, manufacturers claim. The stream line effect with the narrow radiator makes speed possible, it is claimed.

In addition to the more conservative types of cars the company is displaying flashy roadsters in both the Willys-Knight and Whippet lines. One model of the Overland six is also being displayed.

Bright colors are featured in all models.

That the day of the open car is rapidly drawing to a close is shown in this exhibit. Only one combination open and closed car, and two roadsters are being displayed. The remainder are closed types.

Southern smilax covering pillars and beams in the building and framing the show windows in the front of the garage enhances the appearances of the exhibit.

LABOR WANTS SHORTER DAY TO DEVELOP LIFE

Declares Extra Time Not Desired for Loafing; Speaks at Columbus

[illegible] Mar. 5—Organized labor, [illegible] working day, does [illegible] time to loaf, but does [illegible] to develop the spiritual, intellectual and cultural life of the laboring individual, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and former Ohio state senator, told an audience of 1,000 labor advocates and business men who heard him speak here at Memorial Hall last night.

"The establishment of the institution of trade unionism in our land paralleled the establishment of our government and independence upon American soil," said Green, in tracing the history and ideals of the organized labor movement.

He referred to his authorship of the Ohio Workmen's Compensation law, while he was in the senate, as the "proudest achievement in my life."

Green scored employers who "mercilessly and aggressively" opposed labor organizations.

Lowden Seems Beneficiary of Farm Bill's Turndown

"Fighting Frank" Develops Overnight into "Lad" with Nasty Wallop

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5—Calvin Coolidge, champ; Frank O. Lowden, challenger.

That's how Washington has the program for the next Republican presidential scrap sized up today. Coolidge has had a field against him hitherto but no outstanding single opponent. His veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill has given him one.

FRANK O. LOWDEN

One husky heavyweight to lick is worse than a whole swarm of bantams.

IT was foreseen that the president would lose some political avoirdupois by turning down the McNary-Haugen measure and that other aspirants for the 1928 crown would gain some.

Where the dopesters miscalculated was in assuming that the weight the title holder sacrificed would be evenly distributed around among the candidates in training to take the White House belt away from him. Their theory was that his rivals' strength would continue diffused, enabling their man to knock 'em out in a punch apiece even though he himself was a trifle weakened.

Much to their discomfiture, all the poundage that Cautious Cal took off seemes to have passed in a solid chunk to Fighting Frank, the Illinois contender.

Bill Borah looks no more dangerous than before farm relief was voted on. Charlie Dawes shows no improvement in his footwork. No chap of Nick Longworth's girth can possibly rely on his wind to last.

But Fighting Frank has developed overnight into a guy with every appearance of a nasty kick back of every one of his wallops.

HARDLY was the ink dry on President Coolidge's message explaining why he couldn't sign the McNary-Haugen bill before corn belt lawmakers were saying, "Well, this means Lowden."

It isn't so funny that they didn't say it meant Nick. The tiller of the soil isn't apt to be overly impressed by a candidate as citified as the speaker. Dawes, however, has been playing up to the farmers for all he's worth ever since he was inaugurated. Borah's just the type the farm voter might be expected to hurrah himself hoarse over. There are plenty of other favorite sons who'd pledge the United States treasury to agriculture in return for its support at the 1928 convention.

But Lowden's is practically the only name mentioned by the corn belt folk in the capital.

The cotton belt doesn't matter so much. That section's Democratic anyway, and will plunk for some such candidate as Meredith, but the corn belt's Republican, and it distinctly is skin off the present White House tenant's nose when Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, the Dakotas and nearby states talk so pointedly about Lowden for president.

TO say that Washington believes Lowden's chances will be better than Coolidge's in 1928 would be going too far.

The east, of course, thinks Coolidge was quite right on the McNary-Haugen proposition, and even in the agricultural west there were a few scattering legislators who voted against the bill. The president won a lot of credit, too, for showing good nerve, regardless of consequences.

The point is, not that Cal necessarily has forfeited his chance for a renomination by vetoing the McNary-Haugen form of farm relief, but that he has brought out a definite, well defined candidacy against his own, which hasn't previously existed and might not have developed otherwise.

Just why it happens to be Lowden's candidacy, instead of Borah's or Dawes' or some other enthusiastic farmer's is the principal puzzle. At any [illegible] of the agricultural crowd here in Washington faithfully reflects home opinion, it certainly looks like Lowden versus Coolidge as the main show between now and the next Republican convention.

Rev. B. L. George

Self-Confidence

BY REV. W. H. HOWARD
Pastor, First United Brethren Church

PROV. 28th and 29th—"He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool."

Someone has said that a fool in a high position is like a man on a high mountain, everything seems small to him and he appears small to other people.

If any young man expects faith without thought study, patience perseverance study and labor, in the midst of and in spite of discouragements, to attain anything to this world that is worth attaining he will simply wake up by and by and find that he has been playing the part of a fool.

Bismark says: "There is no greater fool than he that says 'There is no God' unless it be the one who says he 'does not know whether there is one or not.'"

An Arabian Proverb says: "A fool is known by six things, anger without cause, speech without profit, change without progress, inquiry without object, putting trust in a stranger, and mistaking foes for friends."

Now the wise man comes with his version of a fool. He says: "He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool."

The object of our trust and confidence must be of the greatest importance. It is the foundation of the building, which, if not strong and secure, must involve the whole building. It is the anchor of our hope and the safety of the ship of our hope.

We all confess the importance of this hope and trust. We have been advised to travel in many directions in order to be assured of the surest and safest way. Of some we are warned, of others the Word tells us that it is safe, and others we devise for ourselves and then the wise man tells us where this will lead.

We are especially warned not to trust in man, whose breath is in his nostrils, nor to trust in princes, for men of low estate as well as men in high estate are vain. And in the text we are cautioned not to trust in our own hearts, for he that so trusteth is a fool.

The proverb does not maintain the idea that men should not think, but on the contrary, that those that think are the farthest from fitting the mold that is made in the text. It is the thinking man that helps the world. It is the thinking man whose council is sought by men of wisdom and searchers for knowledge. It is the thinking man that comes to our relief when we are in trouble. It is the thinking man who finds a remedy for wrong doing rather than being satisfied with finding fault. It is the thinking man that says "I will consider the matter," when perplexing problems are presented to him.

It is the thinking man who says "I will," when he has weighed all the phases of the question and found them to be right, but the fool takes them as a fish takes the bait.

Radio Program Arrives Via Electrical Energy

A view of the transmitter at Station WTAM and Ross Plaisted, radio frequency man at Station WTAM, Cleveland, holding the largest and smallest tubes used at the station.

(This is the third of a series of radio features.)

IN touring a broadcasting station, turning from the audio frequency panel, one is introduced to radio frequency.

The sound or "audio frequency" from the speech input equipment enters the transmitter on a pair of heavy duty conductors. It is passed through a unit called the "Modulator." Then it is impressed on two tubes which are coupled in parallel and called "Oscillators." Leaving these it is no longer audio frequency, or sound, but is radio frequency or electrical energy. As radio frequency it travels through a giant coil of copper tubing and bank of condensers to a hollow copper rod that is connected to the aerial lead-in.

The plates of the transmitting tubes are immersed in water. This is for cooling purposes and the cooling system is a vital part of the set. A pump keeps the water circulating and the temperature is never permitted to rise beyond a certain point.

Forty-two amperes at 22 volts are used in the station described to light the filament. The plate supply is from a 10,000 volt battery, in this station. The plate current varies with modulation. Each change in sound intensity before the microphone is amplified, impressed on the modulator and a corresponding change results in the oscillator circuit. That briefly, is modulation.

The voltage that is carried to the antenna system is extremely high. Forward of 75,000 volts passes through

Next article, "Current."

In September 1922, the United States President Warren G. Harding, Washington barracks and Capt. Wil... Chidlaw mustered parade and furnished... Standard and an orchestra for the inaugural ball. ... Sergeant William S... shared honors with the Marine Band drum major. Only ten days left, and two of them are Sundays, in which to tell Uncle Sam all about your prosperity.

Our good friend, Ed. Hill, is against dancing for the moral damage it is alleged to do, but the general objection to modern dancing seems to be owing to the physical damage it does.

The authorities of Harvard having cut classroom time and the student body being perfectly willing to cut study time, it's hard to see any reason why Harvard should not make a mighty forward stride as an institution of learning. Not a thing to interfere, apparently, with social duties and the pursuit of athletic excellence.

As Senator Borah puts it, what's the constitution when it comes to the matter of serving one's friends?

"The Anti-Saloon league," says the Cincinnati Enquirer, "through the Ohio legislature, decides that the jurisdiction of liquor court justices shall not be restricted." We can not go along with the Enquirer in its wet leanings, but there can be no question that we are having far too much legislation by intimidation, and this applies to federal as well as state.

We never happened to think of it before, but in common fairness the least Ty. Cobb and Tris. Speaker can do is to turn over a substantial portion of their salaries to Judge Landis.

While the filibuster staged in the senate by Messrs. Reed and Moses during the closing days of the session ended this week made a Junketing party out of the question, there is no reason why Messrs. Borah, Wheeler and others who may have a desire to run down to Mexico and bobnob with their soviet Russian friends can now do so at their own expense.

You never can tell. Perhaps as good a way as any for effecting a cure of the parlor pinks of what's ailing them would be to ship them over to Russia and let them remain there a year or two.

There's a heap of satisfaction to be had by both sides to Babe Ruth's three-year contract for $70,000 a year. He knows there will be no attempt to cut it down for three years, and the management realizes that, even should Judge Landis accuse him of crookedness, it will not be compelled to boost Babe's pay during the same period.

We have little sympathy for State Representative Elmer F. Colton, of Lorain, whose hotel room down in Columbus was entered by a thief, who made off with $35 left in a closet therein by the legislator. It serves the representative right. He had no business keeping an amount like that out of circulation.

New French naval construction provided for since the war consists of seven cruisers, eight destroyers, thirty-nine submarines, twenty-six torpedo boats, three submarine mine-layers, a submarine cruiser, two aeroplane carriers, a submarine supply ship and two petroleum supply ships. It fairly makes the heart ache to think how "imperialistic" America is making poor France bankrupt herself to maintain an adequate fighting sea force.

Women Not New to Aviation.

Referring to the fact that a Tennessee woman, Phoebe Omlie, of Memphis, has made application for an aviator's license, one of the Star's feature writers says:

"Having shown their complete capacity for competition on land and sea, women will now proceed to meet and beat man in the air."

That's all right as a paragraph save that it tends to create a wrong impression; save that it might cause the reader to assume that women aviators have been unknown in the past. And such would be a false impression indeed. We have now, and we have had for some years, some very skilful women aviators.

We have in mind a woman aviator, whose acquaintance it has been our pleasure to have made—a wee mite of a woman, young and charming—whose ability as an aviator was such, away back in the days when our boys were at the western front in the World war, that she was selected to instruct our men and develop them into fliers.

And it is said of this little woman, who weighs probably less than over 110 pounds, that she was one of the most fearless of all the accomplished fliers over in France and that she was without a superior in instructing in the art of aviation.

No; it must not be taken that the aviation game is new to woman or that she has not developed proficiency in it. The young woman cited herein is not alone in her knowledge of aviation. There are many women who have demonstrated, both as professionals and amateurs, that they are proficient in the science of aviation and have the courage and nerve to handle a plane as well as any man aviator.

No Occasion for Worry.

The scientists tell us that the earth will pass through the tail of a comet next June, a thing we've been told to expect ever since that we can remember. Some of the scientists tell us that we will suffer no harm as the result of the experience, the gist of their statements being that the tail of a comet is composed of such extremely rarefied gases that the earth will simply pass through it as it would through a cloud of fog, the particles of which are so far apart that we will not even know when we are in the midst of them.

Now the scientists know more about carbon monoxide gas in the tail of comets, they say, than we have through our past experience with the spectroscope. The molecules of the gas, when excited by an electrical current, and the astronomers claim that it is an electrical disturbance which causes comets to throw off tails—throw off certain rays besides of light which the spectroscope of our astronomers can isolate and identify as those of carbon monoxide.

These scientists tell us that the presence of this gas in the tails of comets is very light, probably less in density than that of the same gas left behind in the partial vacuum of an electric light or radio bulb. The tail of a comet is so light, they say, that it will neither poison our atmosphere nor even so much as affect our weather. Even were we to pass through the head of a comet, which may possess some solid particles, we probably would not suffer any serious consequences as we would be protected by the heavy blanket of air which surrounds our planet.

So there is little occasion for fear upon the part of any. When we pass through the celestial cloud of poison gas on or about the 25th of next June, there may be electrical manifestations similar to those we know as Aurora Borealis and some of the poisonous gas may be absorbed by the outer air, but it will not penetrate our air covering sufficiently far to have any effect upon the birds of highest flight or pollute the air at a height attained by man in the present-day altitude records of aviators.

The scientists do not go wholly upon theory in giving us their assurances of safety, nor do they rely upon the known scientific facts altogether or both. They speak, as well, from experience. We have passed through the tails of comets in the past, the last time being in 1908, when we had that experience with this comet which is to visit us next June. We had some peculiar sky effects by night and some by day as well, but there was nothing disturbing in any of them, and we may anticipate this year much the same effects that we experienced nineteen years ago.

In any event, there is no occasion for worry, and there may be some very beautiful celestial phenomena resulting from the meeting of our earth and the heavenly visitor.

While it would be foolish to hold that Mr. Dawes lacks energy, it would be equally foolish to hold that he lacks the brains to realize that he never could show up the senate rules as have the members of the senate when left to themselves.

"The closest observation," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning, "fails to locate any girl about these parts who is aiding that New York woman who is making $100,000 a year selling corsets."

It's a mighty poor compliment which the champions of the one-time so-called farm relief bill pay the mental acumen of the president when the charge that he was inspired by political reasons to veto the bill and in the next breath say that his vetoing of the bill will defeat him for election if not for renomination.

"I read that a lecturer told a Philadelphia gathering that women seldom blush any more," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today, "but even at that the blushing average must be about par, seeing how often we men folks have to blush for them."

The Isis, undergraduate magazine of Oxford university, urges students to drink more and heavier liquors; that light wines and beer will not avail "to attain that mellow if slightly coarse flavor which once was characteristic of English civilization." It strikes us that Oxford offers a fine opening for the introduction of some of our American bootleg stuff.

Aimee Semple McPherson said she was going to save New York, but at the time she left that city for Florida it seemed to be about as badly involved in sin as it could possibly have been had she never been kidnapped and carried off that time into the heart of that Mexican desert.

Channel Swimming Points Lesson.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Everybody in North America was thrilled when that fine Canadian boy swam the channel between Catalina Island and Point Vincente more than a month go. It speaks well for the training George Young had to enable him to win a contest in which a hundred persons were entered.

It is not to be expected that every boy can become a successful swimmer and win $25,000. But it is possible for every boy to win a greater prize than this—he can win the prize of good health. And this is the capital prize in the lottery of life.

Go into any hospital ward and visit a little bit. When you leave the front door of that institution you will say to yourself, "I'd rather have my vigorous health than a gift of a million dollars."

Look into the faces of those you meet in the streets and in the railroad trains. You will find written in many of them signs of poor health and physical suffering.

When I am not actually applying my medical knowledge, I wish I might forget it in my social and everyday life. When I look into the face of a friend, associate or casual acquaintance, I can not help appraising the health of the person before me. It is a temptation to sit down by one of my associates and read him a lecture about what he should do to improve his health.

If one has a passion for advocating standards of right living, he is in deadly danger of becoming a deadly bore.

George Young, the winner of the Catalina contest, had before him three goals—the happiness of his mother, the pride of victory and the golden reward. Each of these was a definite, compelling thing.

If we could make the prize of health just as real and worth striving for, ninety-nine persons out of every hundred would realize this ambition.

Think about it for a minute! Isn't this prize worth at least a fraction of the effort necessary to win a physical contest or some other victory?

Health is a thing to be achieved. I admit that health appears to be thrust upon many persons, it is easily had by others, but it is possible of achievement by everybody.

George Young won a bag of gold. He was immediately in demand by an admiring public. He was taken away from the simple life to face the temptations of an entirely different life.

I have faith to believe that training given her son by that fine mother will be the armor to protect him from the arrows of a public career. Otherwise the victory of Point Vincente will turn to ashes.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

It's quite a problem for employers of lots of girls to keep the young ladies from using most of the office hours for capturing men. Well, anyway, that's what the employers say. And you'll have to give them credit for trying to tell the truth. They may be cuckoo, but they want to be honest.

So many girls use the office phones to talk something besides business, you know. Oh well, maybe not. I didn't say so. I'm just quoting what some of my friends that have offices tell me.

One boss called his secretary in and says to her: "You may not use the phone to talk over your love affairs during office hours."

"But," she says, "I never do that. Strictly business with me."

"Then how about that last hour's conversation?"

"That was business, of course, with a client of the firm."

"All right then. Don't let me hear you calling our clients old fuzzy-wuzzy and sweet daddy any more. Our clients don't understand that kind of commercial language."—Copyright, 1927.

SORROW.

Have patience; it is fit that in this wise
The spirit purge away its proper dross.
No endless fever doth thy watches toss.
For by excess of evil, evil dies.

Soon shall the faint world melt before thine eyes,
And, all life's losses cancelled by life's loss,
Thou shalt lay down all burden on thy cross.
And be that day with God in paradise.

Have patience; for a long eternity
No summons woke thee from the happy sleep;
For love of God one vigil thou canst keep
And add thy drop of sorrow to the sea.
Having known grief, all will be well with thee.
Ay, and thy second slumber will be deep.

MOTHER LOVE ATTEMPTS TO SAVE LIFE OF BABE

Seventh Infant Near Death After Being Given Boric Acid Solution

Chicago, Mar. 5—Physicians who had done all in their powers to save the live of tiny Marjorie Gibbons, 9-day-old victim of the Columbus Memoral Hospital tragedy, stood back today and watched the infant's mother, Mrs. Thomas Gibbons, try to save her baby's life by the sheer force of mother love.

If little Marjorie dies she will be the seventh infant fatality caused by the error of a nurse who administered a solution of boric acid for sterilized drinking water to ten babies in the infant ward. Five died Wednesday within a few hours. The sixth died yesterday after several famous physicians worked desperately to save its life.

Distracted with grief, Mrs. Gibbons insisted that her tiny daughter be brought to her. Marjorie was placed at her mother's side, Mrs. Gibbons cuddled the little form into her arms. When doctors and nurses suggested returning the baby to the infant ward, the mother became hysterical and drew the child nearer.

Dr. Allen Ferguson, in charge of the case, finally ordered the baby left at its mother's side. He admitted that if the child lives it will be a victory for mother love over medical science.

TAX RATES FIXED

Practically every school district in the county has had to resort to borrowing at interest rates not exceeding six per cent, the limit prescribed by statute, it was stated today by County School Superintendent Charles B. Rayburn.

Although the reappraisal affects all sections of the county there is little change in the duplicate of the county as a whole. The reappraisal, as explained by county officers, was an equalization move. In some sections of the county the reappraisal boosted the value of real estate while in other sections values were cut.

Rates approved this morning by the State Tax Commission differ slightly from the schedule in effect last year, but the average for the various districts remains practically the same, officials say.

While the amount of the collections this year is not known officials say it will be near the figure with which the county treasurer was charged last year. Records show that the total last year was $2,305,278.35.

In view of the fact that the collection of taxes in the city has moved along according to schedule the city is not affected. With an advance draw of $208,000 obtained some time ago the city has sufficient operating funds to carry it over until the situation in the county adjusts itself.

DESTITUTE FAMILY IS REMOVED TO COLUMBUS

To Be Cared for at Franklin County Home Temporarily

A family of five, consisting of the mother and father and three small children, found destitute and practically without food supplies here early in February, and cared for by the City Relief Department and local charity organizations since that time, was taken to Franklin County yesterday to be provided with temporary quarters in the county home.

The heads of the unfortunate family are Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Scott, both aged 30, who moved here on Feb. 7 from Westerville, Franklin County, with two children, one a 15 months old girl baby and the other a boy, three years old.

They moved into a rented apartment at 324 Sharpless-ct and on the following day their third child, a girl baby, was born.

Shortly afterward City Relief Officer Charles M. Tobin found that the family was virtually without food, the supply on hand consisting of only small quantities of rice and tea.

Since that time, the family had been furnished with provisions by local authorities and charitable societies. Scott had been employed as a solicitor by a grocery concern but his earnings were too small for the family's needs, investigation showed.

Yesterday, F. T. Babbitt, superintendent of the Franklin County Home, came here and took the family back to his institution. The five will be cared for there until Scott is able to obtain employment which will provide sufficient funds for living expenses.

Money expended by the City Relief Department here in caring for the family will be refunded by Franklin County, Relief Officer Tobin has been informed.

During the last few weeks of their residence here, the Scotts lived in rooms at 186 S. Main-st. owners would not benefit personally from county aid was especially emphasized in the discussions. The property owners are to pay half of the cost and this would not be reduced by the county helping foot the bill.

County aid, it was pointed out, would result solely in lessening the cost for the city as a whole and advocates of the plan believed that the commissioners should be willing to extend this help at this time, when the city is handicapped by financial difficulties.

The commissioners say that the county could not afford to establish a precedent by granting this request. It would result, they believe, in many other applications for county aid in the future. As proof of this contention, they say that shortly after the W. Center-st application was received and reported in the newspapers, Caledonia came in with a request for help in paving a street there.

The commissioners' refusal to help in the W. Center-st financing will not result in any changes in plans for having the first section of the paving constructed next year. The [illegible] already been [illegible] Council [illegible] victory in their tourney division in the final games tonight.

Marion County's one chance to attain glory during the present season depended entirely upon the ability of Harding High, scheduled to meet Mt. Vernon in the second round of the Class A. tourney this afternoon. The red and black warriors were given an even chance to win by tourney dopesters at the noon hour. An exhibition of the inspired basketball seen in its exhibition against Columbus Central would not be surprising to its supporters or antagonists.

Marysville Favorite

Marysville was conceded to be an easy winner in its division following the mediocre opposition furnished by Liberty Union in a 21 to 10 game and the forfeit of the strong New Dover team to Johnstown, a team of little known strength, on account of sickness among players this morning.

Excitement during the morning's activities was furnished in the Hyatts-New Albany game, a mad scoring orgy, that finally ended in an overtime period, Hyatts the winner, 37 to 35.

Magnetic Springs went down fighting valiantly to the touted Bexley team with a score of 20 to 26. Five minutes before the final gun the tally was tied at 21 all.

Tonight's Class B schedule to determine semi-final entrants announced directly following the morning session is as follows: Scioto Township vs. Granville, 6:30; Hyatts vs. Gambier, 7:15; Upper Arlington vs. Bexley, 8:00; Marysville vs. Johnstown, 8:45. The winner of the Harding High-Mt. Vernon game will compete with the winner of the Lancaster-Circleville game next Friday night.

Spare Socks
Sewing in Court

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

THIS Extra Cent business may be a bit of nonsense, to speak in the parlance of the day, but somewhere, somehow one has a watchful eye on the comforts of the poor working girl. Long before we have been able to carry our complexion in the most compact of compacts, a mixture dressing combs and our pallorous curls may not be wavy and now they are presenting for our approval a spare sock. Who hasn't put out the price of a week's rations for an extra pair of hose when they least expected to, just because some heartless motorist dashed through the slush along the curb, or turned down a heavy date for dinner all because some time during the morning a run-over put in an appearance. In this day of sheer luxury the "spare" may be carried in one's purse and all there is to do is seek out the friendly shelter of a telephone booth to make the change.

HERE'S a new idea for those who have an ear for hearing the litany of others woes recited in courts, or who have to serve on juries, or many who have to attend court of their own accord and find time between nets a trifle burdensome. Take your embroidery work, knitting or whatever you have a penchant for, along with you, it's amazing what may be accomplished. Do not feel that it is a being done, for it is, by the very best people this season. Mrs. Joseph Leiter turned out three tapestry chair covers and dozens of scarves and Mrs. Colin Campbell knitted socks and other wearables while attending the trial of Joseph Leiter in the Windy City recently.

STAGE doors are lonely places any more, according to those in the know. The chuck who would bask in the smiles of the fair ladies of the stage no longer lurks in the dimly-lighted stairway at the rear of the theaters to plead his cause with the maiden of his choice, but lays out the price of a good marcel for parking space in the front row. The reason of the front row seat is that from the stage an audience can be seen only a few rows back because of the glare of the foot-lights so it stands the modern Lochinvar well in hand to be in the front or second row. He gives them the "once over" in the first scene and does his best to catch the eye of his choice. If she seems "willin'" he sends her a note and the date is kept in the foyer of the theater rather than at the stage door. The day of starved chorus girls is at an end, for with lithe figgers to be kept, in order to keep the jobs, it's no longer a layout of a week's earnings for steaks smothered in mushrooms with accessories to match.

CHAPTER FIFTY-SEVEN

... to imagine what exactly was ... at the Hotel du Centre ... from the others, most ... and try to get from him ... of the drugs. Clay- ... of the Cercle was where he could be ar- ... would never give this informa- ... I possibly avoid it. He ... the contrary, offer to lead me ... to the spot and I presumably the ... would agree. The Count ... fact, go to the cafes with ... or rather Clayton, in ... to make away with his guide ... and lead him a merry chase ... as soon as a convenient op- ... occurred. Clayton, how- ... I'll keep the Count engaged at ... and class the plan of the Cer- ... with only a double cross ... Clayton would have no chance of fail- ...

As I thought this out, I was striding ... down a long street, and I had ... opposite the Cafe du Rath- ... a large building covered with ... some of unpronounceable name. ... I looked at the clock in ... of its façade and came to a ... I would keep to the original ... and go to the cafes. I had ... time to catch the train to ... and catch it I must. I was ... what was my best course. I was ... nothing in the original plan, ... to Geneva, put myself in touch ... the police, keep the rendezvous at ... as before Carling and trust that ... would be able to lure the Count ... Clayton would run no ... risk. Fischelstein would ... be molested until the Count had ... himself that the drugs he ... were actually in the place in- ... stated and of the requisite quality ... and quantity, and once the Count was ... there he could be arrested before he ... could harm the detective, especially as ... I should be there to give warning of ... the intended mischief.

I hailed a taxi and directed the ... chauffeur to drive me to the railway ... station.

"The German or the Swiss station, ... Monsieur?" he inquired.

"The Swiss," I answered, "and as ... quick as you can go."

I got in and we were soon driving ... rapidly towards the station, arriving ... with only three minutes to spare. Pay- ... ing off the man, I took to my heels and ... bolting through the big waiting room, ... reached the platform and boarded the ... train just as it was steaming from the ... station.

I found myself in a second-class com- ... partment, which in the Swiss railways, ... consists of a single car, the seats ar- ... ranged each side and a gangway be- ... tween. I had barely sat down when a ... uniformed official requested me to show ... my ticket. I had to explain that I had ... not had time to buy one and, with many ... formalities, he wrote me out a second- ... class ticket to Geneva. I then sat back ... in my corner and had leisure to look ... around me. The car was not very full ... and as there was no one in my corner, ... I was able to open the window and get ... some air. I spent some time in gaz- ... ing at the scenery from the window, but ... it held little interest for me. I was ... still physically exhausted and my mind ... centered entirely on what I hoped would ... be the conclusion of the fantastic ad- ... venture into which I had been so sud- ... denly plunged. After a while I fell into ... a doze and presently into a heavy sleep.

I awakened some hours later with a ... start to find that I was no longer alone ... in my corner. Opposite me were seated ... a man and a girl. I paid no particular ... attention to them beyond noting that ... the girl was neat and shapely, though ... flashily dressed. She wore a consider- ... able amount of cheap jewelry, includ- ... ing many bangles of spun glass. After ... a while, however, I became aware that ... the man at her side was covertly ob- ... serving me over the top of a book ... which he was reading. I endured his ... scrutiny for some time and then, wonder- ... ing at his curiosity, I picked up a ... copy of the Basler Nachrichten lying ... on the seat beside me and, under its ... cover, returned the compliment.

He was small and dark, with a ... large Jewish nose and black hair ... carefully oiled and waved. There was ... something vaguely familiar about him, ... though I could not for the life of me ... remember where I could have seen him ... before. He eyed me now and again ... with a puzzled expression, as though ... he, too, recognized me and was trying ... to identify me. Presently his com- ... panion turned to him and said some- ... thing about dinner.

"Don't me impatient, Thilda," he ... lisped. "We're going to Lausanne ... now, with only an hour from Geneva."

At the first sound of his voice I had ... a swift mental vision of a tare room ... with a green baize-covered table, ... around which were seated fourteen men, ... their eyes riveted on a little Japanese ... as he told them of the offer of Fischel- ... stein. And the girl, too, of course I ... had seen before. She was the dancing ... who is the Kursaal at Geneva had ... thrown me the bunch of flowers to ... which had been hidden the source of all ... my trouble and misfortunes.

I sat back, holding the paper well in ... front of me. I was frankly upset by ... my discovery. Had the man recognized ... me. If so, would he be likely to try ... to take any action against me? I looked ... at him covertly, trying vainly to read ... his intentions.

Then I turned again to my paper, ... noting with some confusion that I had ... been holding it upside down for the ... last half-hour. I put it down hastily ... and looked out of the window. It was ... now very dark and I could only dimly ... see the blurred outlines of trees and ... hedges as the train flashed past in the ... dusk. What ought I to do?

One circumstance was reassuring. ... The little Jew appeared to pay no fur- ... ther attention to me, but was carrying ... on a conversation with his companion. ... They were evidently disagreeing and I ... caught snatches of their argument.

"It's too risky," she was saying.

"Nonsh-ense," he replied. "Leave it ... to me. I know what I'm about, and ... I'll get it over."

As he finished speaking I became ... aware that the Swiss train official ... from whom I had purchased my ticket ... was approaching, and further that, ... was approaching, and further that, ... with the exception of myself and the ... man and girl opposite me, the car was ... empty.

"Tickets, please," said the man.

I plunged my hand into my pocket ... in search of my ticket. The little Jew ... did likewise, and then suddenly burst ... into a torrent of volubile speech.

"My pocketbook hath gone," he ... lisped in execrable French. "And my ... ticketh were in it. I had them when ... I charted."

"Perhaps, Monsieur, you have left ... them in your overcoat," suggested the ... official, pointing to the garment in ... question, which was hanging from a ... peg, as is the custom in Swiss railway ... carriages.

The little Jew feverishly searched ... the pockets.

"No," he said at last.

"Have you been in this compartment ... all the time?" asked the official.

"Yoth," said the little Jew. "I've ... been here quite alone with thith gen- ... tleman." He turned to me as he spoke, ... as though in sudden suspicion.

"You're sure you brought the case ... with you into the compartment?" asked ... the official.

"I'm quite pothitive." Again he ... turned to me with a look of suspicion.

It was stupid of me, but I didn't ... even yet see what he was driving at.

"Perhapth thith gentleman can throw ... some light on the subject," he insinu- ... ated.

"What do you mean?" I said.

He spread two deprecating palms. "I ... mean that I want to find my money ... and my ticketh." He turned to the ... official.

"I have been athleep in thith cor- ... ner," he continued, "and I had my ... ticketth when I came into the train, ... for I thowed them to you and now ... they have gone and my pocketbook ... hath gone too. Perhapth thith gentle- ... man hath found them."

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

"AH! this is something like," Dicky said, when I had brought in the iced fruit drinks he had asked me to make, and he had drained a glass of it with avidity. "I don't believe I ever was so thirsty."

He poured himself another glass and began sipping it slowly.

"You p-p-p- don't know what you're missing, he said. "Of course if Dad can't stand lemon juice, they excused. But what's gotten into you, Madge? You never used to pass this up."

"I've made up my mind it isn't good for me," I said, truthfully enough. "I used to drink an occasional glass of it with you, but I haven't taken any of it for weeks."

Dicky muttered something under his breath which sounded like "Thasshe finicky all of a sudden," but he made no further protest. My father looked over at him quizzically.

"Do you mean to tell me, Richard, that you indulge in this beverage every night?"

"That's right," Dicky answered. "I don't have it in the old Winter months, but as soon as the Spring comes I send out an S. O. S. to Madge. I suppose it's partly habit, but the stuff sure is refreshing. Madge makes it up every night and sets it in the refrigerator. Then before I climb into bed I put it on ice. Bowling Green, 24; Lima South, 19.

Kenton, Mar. 5—Two Lima quintets, South and Central, Ada and St. Mary's were eliminated in the first round of the Class A high school district basketball tournament here yesterday when Lima St. Rose, Bowling Green, Van Wert and Kenton turned in victories.

Two upsets occured during the tournament when Lima South, last year's regional champion, was defeated in the first round by Bowling Green in a fast battle. The Van Wert victory over Lima Central was perhaps the biggest surprise of the meet.

This afternoon will find four teams entering the second round the opening game starting at two o'clock with Findlay and Wapakonetta clashing. Kenton and Van Wert will play an hour later.

Finals Tonight

In the final game will be played at night with St. Rose and Bowling Green playing one fray and the winners of the afternoon games playing the other. The two winners will go to the regional tournament at Findlay next Friday and Saturday.

The largest crowd that has ever attended a basketball tournament in the four years that it has been held in Kenton jammed the armory gym to its capacity with hundreds of people being turned out. It was estimated that 2,000 fans saw the games Friday night.

In the tournaments opening game Kenton had little trouble with St. Marys winning 27 to 15. Barker and Swarty starred at the forward positions. The latter, a substitute, played the entire game.

Although they were being considered easy for Central, Van Wert in the afternoon proved otherwise when they defeated the Lima school 27 to 23. Lima did not do much until the last quarter when they staged a rally.

Listless Game

The St. Rose-Ada game was the most listless of the tourney. Ada was defeated 20 to 10 with the Rosarians displaying little in the way of basketball.

The best game of the tournament in the minds of the fans was the Bowling Green-Lima South fray when the Bee Gee tossers outplayed Lima winning by a score of 24 to 19. The teams battled at an even pace until the last quarter when Bowling Green forged way into the lead.

It is the opinion of Marion fans that Harding will prove a real "dark horse" in the tournament by turning in a victory this afternoon. They have confidence in the Marionites and it is up to the team to keep that confidence.

Mt. Vernon last night defeated Columbus East, 30 to 18, in the first Class A game of the tournament. The winners displayed unusual ability with long shots but never once did they attempt a short succor goal. If Harding stops the long attempts, they will, as said before, have won that game when the reader gets this paper.

Lancaster, doped as the leading tournament Class A team, did not play yesterday but was to meet Circleville in the opening game of the second round at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Should Harding win from Mt. Vernon, it must play the winner of the Lancaster-Circleville game at 7 o'clock next Friday night, in Edwards gym. It will be the last game of the semi-finals. The finals are to be played Saturday night, Mar. 12, at Delaware.

All Class A games for this week will end at 5 o'clock today, when the Newark contest comes to a close. Another Class B round, however, is scheduled for tonight, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Nominating
GEORGE M. LOTT, JR.

Because he is one of the "rising generation" in the tennis world.

Because he has just won the distinction of being ranked No. 1 in the Western rating by the ranking committee.

Because he has already held the Canadian singles and doubles titles.

Because he was placed ninth in the national rankings two years ago when but seventeen.

And because he carries "western" tennis wherever he goes. This is noticeable in his grip and service.

And results— the western cheer leaders will tell you.

Marion Quintet Hailed as "Dark Horse" of Delaware Meet; Plays Again Today

Local Crew Wins Over Strong Central High Team of Columbus, 22 to 20, in Thrilling Cage Contest; Plays Super Basketball for Victory

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star

HARDING HIGH was to take the floor at 2:45, this afternoon, against Mt. Vernon in the second round of the Class A Central Ohio District basketball tournament at Edwards Gym, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware.

The Marionites earned the right to compete in the second round late yesterday, when they pulled the greatest surprise of the tourney and downed Columbus Central, 22 to 20, in the most thrilling cage battle of the day.

The Harding High crew, until 6 o'clock last night considered the weakest outfit entered in Class A, today was hailed as the "dark horse" of the meet

... basketeers of the ... school circuit super ... a ... with six points. Harding's ... victory over the team that was dou... League Lancaster a great stinger ... pose. My was the feature of ... circuit is considered the ... the Class A division at Delaware, ... team has not yet played

... Edwards auditorium ... filled with cheers, ... laughter, ... whistles, ... and still whistling as Church Puett, Harding forward dropped the winning ... through the net in the last 10 seconds of play. The sphere struck the edge of the hoop, bounced high in the air, again glanced off the ram and slowly,—oh, so slowly, rolled through the basket

It was a wonderful exhibition of basketball. Words can hardly describe the manner in which the entire Harding set of cagers displayed its wares. Never before this season has the whole Marion team play a game like it did last night against the strongest quintet it has met this year.

Outplay Central

Central was completely outplayed in the first half. Garrett started the scoring for Harding with two free throws and Rinnert followed up with a neat field goal before the Columbus cub realized that it was up against a fighting basketball crew. Waters connected for a free throw for Central and White added a fielder before the first quarter came to and end. The count stood 4 to 3 for Harding as the gun cracked for the close of the first seven minutes of play.

Marion fans and others who have been following the fortunes of the various high school basketball teams in this section of the state could hardly believe their eyes at the end of the stanza. Marion, noted for its unsuccessful North Central Ohio League season and expected by many to be the goat of the tourney, was actually ahead of Central High, leader in Columbus, cage circles.

Same Story

But the second quarter told the same tale. Garrett opened with a field goal and Tittle, Central flash and sensation of Central Ohio hardwood floors, evened the count with a similar feat. Chuck Evans finally found the bucket and caged one from near the foul line for two more points. Shults made a free throw and McAninch broke into the scoring column with a field goal. Tittle connected for another as the gun cracked for the half. The score was 11 to 7, Harding on top.

And then came the crash.

Marion fans held their breath as Tittle and Waters of Columbus caged the two field goals that tied the score in the first minute of the second half. Garrett helped things a trifle with a free throw but Central didn't stop. Tittle made another, Smith made one, Kline connected for a bucket, and Smith caged a charity counter. It all happened in seven minutes.

Loses Pep

Harding lost its pep and was outplayed the entire third period. The local boys weren't even in the running. They were trailing 18 to 12 as the gun again popped for the close of another period.

Desperately endeavoring to again bring back the old life to his proteges, Coach Compton placed Ben Gilmore at center, let Joe Rinnert replace Shults at back guard, and jerked Shults for a few minutes.

Ben made a basket a minute later and the Harding contingent of rooters, consisting by this time of every man, woman and child in the hall with the exception of those who were directly connected with Central High, rose to its feet. Their triumph was shortlived. White, Columbus center, added two more points with a field goal.

Another Combination

Again seeking to form a working combination, Coach Compton placed Shults back into the fray, removed Joe Rinnert, and a minute later replaced Garrett with Cline. The new five man machine operated in perfect running order. McAninch made a field goal and added two free throws, bringing his team within two points of Central.

With 90 seconds to go, Shults dropped in a perfect throw from mid floor for the tieing points. Then Evans completed the trick with his timely field goal.

That's the story of Harding High's greatest basketball game this season, a battle that will long be remembered by those who were witnesses. If we had not seen it with our own eyes, we might still be skeptical in telling this tale.

The wondrous Tittle made four field goals for eight of his team's 20 counters last night. Three of the baskets were long shots. White, center, was good with six points. Harding's ... guarding in the last two ... Compton's hold down the ...

UNUSUAL LEGAL CASE HEARD BY SUPREME COURT

Suit Brought by Former Marion County Man Without Precedent

The suit of J. H. Uncapher, former Marion man, against the commissioners of Morrow County, involving an unusual dispute over the widening of a rural highway, was argued in the Ohio Supreme Court at Columbus, Thursday, on Mr. Uncapher's petition in error.

Interests of about 25 Morrow County farmers, owners of land along a six-mile stretch of highway leading north from Mt. Gilead, are involved in the proceedings. Should Mr. Uncapher score a victory in the supreme court, he and all of the other landowners will receive compensation from Morrow County for land appropriated in widening the road.

Without Precedent

The suit is said to be without a precedent in Ohio court annals and for that reason has attracted considerable attention among attorneys and public officials throughout the state.

The road, laid out in 1850, was originally 60 feet in width and in 1870 was increased to 75 feet. The commissioners at that time deciding that the county could not afford to maintain a 90-foot highway when the extra 15 feet were not needed.

Then when development and growth of automobile traffic made wider roadways desirable, the county commissioners voted to restore the thoroughfare to its original width of 90 feet and this was done in 1925.

The landowners were allowed no compensation for the 15-foot strip appropriated for the widening, the commissioners maintaining that the county was merely taking back ground that was actually its property.

The landowners, however, believe that the 15 feet of ground belonged to them by rights established through a half century of continuous possession.

Set Up Claims

Since the width of the roadway was reduced 15 feet in 1870, the farmers have put the ground to various uses, many of them having planted trees and shrubbery and constructed fences thereon. They claim that they are entitled to compensation from the county not only for the ground but for the money represented by these improvements.

Mr. Uncapher was awarded judgment in the Morrow County Common Pleas Court but this verdict was reversed in the court of appeals. Mr. Uncapher then carried the case to the supreme court.

In the supreme court hearing, Mr. Uncapher was represented by Attorneys H. E. Hull of Marion and T. B. Mason of Mt. Gilead. Counsel for the county were Prosecutor Conaway and Attorney Williamson of Mt. Gilead.

LaSalle
a Companion Car to Cadillac

CARRYING FORWARD the policy of a quality car for every purse and purpose, General Motors saw the need for Cadillac's developing a high grade automobile which would be as socially acceptable as Cadillac itself, but with a slightly varying field of usefulness.

For this congenial task the Cadillac organization was invited to draw freely upon the entire resources of General Motors, including the Research Laboratories, the Department of Purchases, the Fisher Body Corporation and the Proving Ground.

The result is revealed in Cadillac showrooms this week—LaSalle, a fine motor car built wholly within Cadillac's plant, but, in the widest sense of the term, a "product of General Motors."

Those who travel much in Europe have realized that there was an opportunity to introduce a Continental style in the appearance of an American car. LaSalle has realized upon that opportunity. It is radically unlike any other automobile; yet the poise and the breeding of Cadillac are there!

Never was a car so rigidly tested in advance of its presentation to the public as LaSalle has been tested at the General Motors Proving Ground. It is a new car to you; it is a tried and proved car to us—as distinguished in performance as it is different in appearance. We present LaSalle with very great pride and invite you to view this car.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

Spring there were no classes in Flow Stump School, so all the little bunny boys and girls in Uncle Wiggily's hollow bungalow got up early in the to have as much fun as they going to the woods to see if spring flowers have started to called Tooter, who, with liked to play Boy Scout and and all sorts of games like that.

too early for flowers," said who, with her sister Jangle, was under the apple pie tree—I the tree off which, in summer, could be picked to make pies.
twenty-first of March is spring," Jangle, who was a boy today.
little birds begin to sing!" I mean that Jangle was a real boy, when, on Saturday she would put an old suit belonging to Scooter or and pretend she was like one her brothers.

"Well, anyhow, we're going to the woods," said Tooter.

So away he ran with some other animal boys, while Jingle and Jangle got their dolls and some little dishes and when Baby Bunty and Kittie Kat and Arabella Chick and some other animal girls came along they all played house.

"Oh, I wish I had my basket of empty spools!" said Jingle all of a sudden. "We could pretend the spools were all sorts of things to play with."

"Where are your spools?" asked Jangle, who knew that her sister had saved a lot of empty ones.

"I left them in Nurse Jane's kitchen," answered Jingle. "I can't go in now to get them for I'm expecting company."

So she was, though it was make believe company where the little animal girls were playing they were grown up. And just then Jingle saw Uncle Wiggily in the bungalow kitchen door.

"Oh, Daddicums!" called the little rabbit girl. "Will you please bring out my basket of empty spools? They're on the table."

"I will, my dear," answered the rabbit gentleman, and, being in a hurry, he picked up the first thing he saw on the table, and, as it happened, it was a dish of apples cut up for Nurse Jane to put into a pie. Not knowing what he was doing, being absent-minded like, Uncle Wiggily carried the basket of apple slice out to Jingle and then he hurried back into the kitchen for he heard his wife calling him.

"Oh, look what Daddicums brought me instead of empty spools!" laughed Jingle as she saw the apple slices.

"He must have wanted us to have a little play party!" said Jingle. "Let's do it and eat the apples. We can pretend they are oranges!"

"Oh, what fun!" laughed Baby Bunty.

So, forgetting about the basket of spools, the little animal girls ate the apple intended for the pie. And when Uncle Wiggily got back into the kitchen his wife was there, rolling out pie crust and putting it in a tin.

"Please hand me that dish of cut apples. I want to put them in this pie," said Mrs. Longears. "Nurse Jane had to hurry to the store so I'm finishing this pie for her."

"I'll put the apples in," offered Uncle Wiggily, so what did he do but put into the pie tin the empty, wooden spools, and he never noticed what he was doing. And Mrs. Longears, thinking the empty spools were slices of apple, being a bit near-sighted, you know, she clapped the top crust on and clapped the pie into the oven, spools and all.

Well, the little rabbit girls and their friends ate all the sliced apples, and when the spool pie was done Mrs. Longears took it from the oven, not dreaming what a funny pastry it was. But that evening Uncle Butter, the goat, and Aunt Lettie, the goatess, came to tea.

"I want you to try my apple pie," said Uncle Wiggily, starting to cut it. "At least I put the apples in! But they seem to be very tough!" he added

"I want you to try my apple pie," said Uncle Wiggily.

when his knife couldn't cut the wooden spools. "Something must be the matter!"

And when Uncle Wiggily lifted the top crust and saw, inside, a lot of brown, baked wooden thread spools instead of tender, juicy apples—well, I just wish you could have heard Uncle Butter laugh. So did Aunt Lettie. And when Mr. Longears thought what a funny mistake he had made in that spool pie—why, he laughed harder than any one except Jingle and Jangle.

"It's a good thing Uncle Butter didn't try to eat that pie!" said Mrs. Longears.

"Oh, I don't know!" bleated the goat gentleman. "Spool pie might be good for a change. I'm tired of eating tin cans!" and he laughed again. And if the gas stove doesn't stay all night at the movies and made the milk bottle cry, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's play house.

THE GUMPS

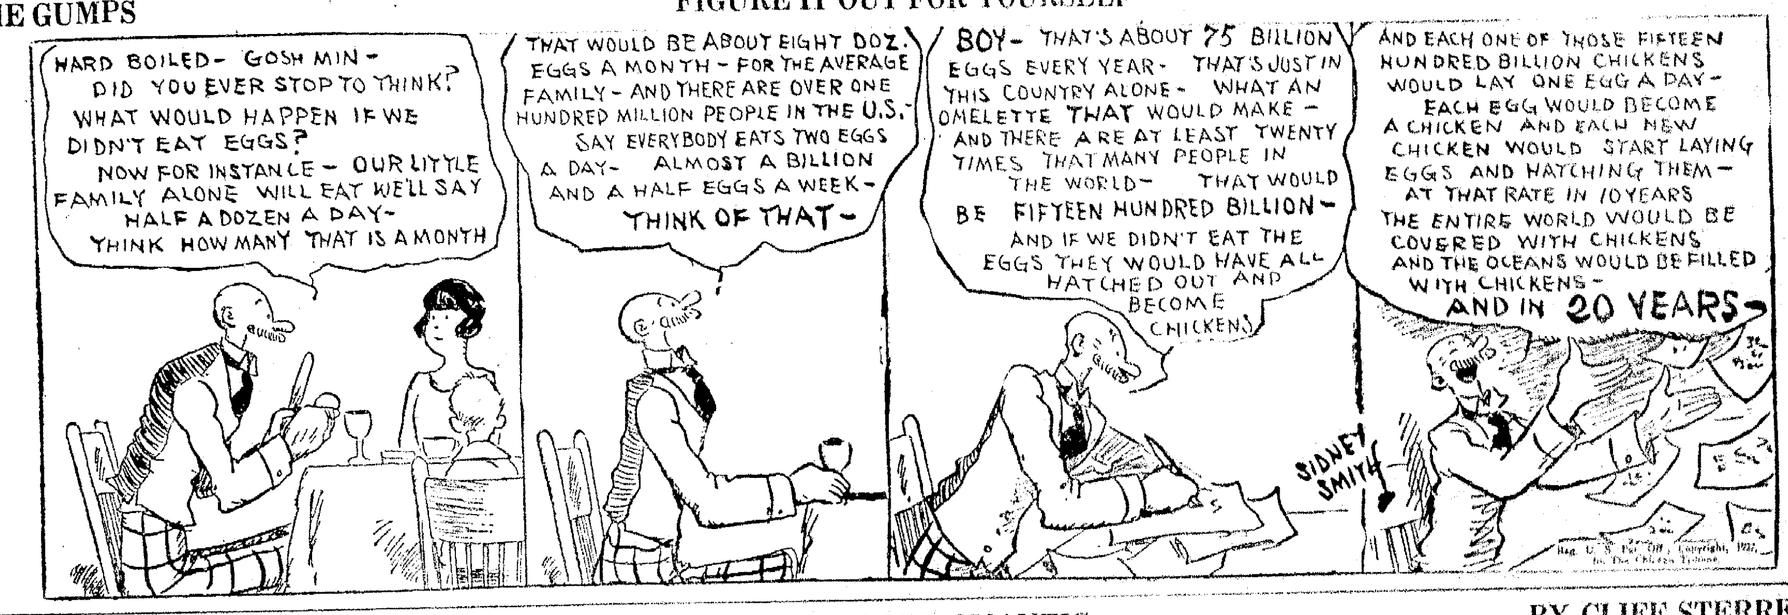
BY SIDNEY SMITH



HARD BOILED - GOSH MIN - DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK? WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF WE DIDN'T EAT EGGS? NOW FOR INSTANCE - OUR LITTLE FAMILY ALONE WILL EAT WE'LL SAY HALF A DOZEN A DAY - THINK HOW MANY THAT IS A MONTH
THAT WOULD BE ABOUT EIGHT DOZ. EGGS A MONTH - FOR THE AVERAGE FAMILY - AND THERE ARE OVER ONE HUNDRED MILLION PEOPLE IN THE U.S. - SAY EVERYBODY EATS TWO EGGS A DAY - ALMOST A BILLION AND A HALF EGGS A WEEK - THINK OF THAT - BOY - THAT'S ABOUT 75 BILLION EGGS EVERY YEAR - THAT'S JUST IN THIS COUNTRY ALONE - WHAT AN OMELETTE THAT WOULD MAKE - AND THERE ARE AT LEAST TWENTY TIMES THAT MANY PEOPLE IN THE WORLD - THAT WOULD BE FIFTEEN HUNDRED BILLION - AND IF WE DIDN'T EAT THE EGGS THEY WOULD HAVE ALL HATCHED OUT AND BECOME CHICKENS
AND EACH ONE OF THOSE FIFTEEN HUNDRED BILLION CHICKENS WOULD LAY ONE EGG A DAY - EACH EGG WOULD BECOME A CHICKEN AND EACH NEW CHICKEN WOULD START LAYING EGGS AND HATCHING THEM - AT THAT RATE IN 10 YEARS THE ENTIRE WORLD WOULD BE COVERED WITH CHICKENS AND THE OCEANS WOULD BE FILLED WITH CHICKENS - AND IN 20 YEARS

RITES FOR LOREN SMITH WILL BE HELD MONDAY

Organic Heart Trouble Assigned by Coroner as Cause of Death

Funeral services for Loren Smith, 26, who died suddenly while driving a Merchants Delivery Co motor truck on S. Prospect-st, near Church-st, yesterday morning, will be held at 1 30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Smith home, 211 Cummings and at the Central Christian Church at 2 o'clock.

Services will be in charge of Rev. George B Groves, pastor of the Central Christian Church, of which Mr. Smith was a member and Marion Lodge, No. 70, F. and A. M. Mr Smith was a member of Humboldt Lodge, F. and A. M. at Columbus, where he resided prior to coming to this city about five years ago.

Burial will take place at Marion Cemetery.

The cause of Mr Smith's death was organic heart trouble, according to the report of Dr. B. D. Osborn of Waldo, county coroner, who held an inquest yesterday morning at the Central Fire Station, where the body was taken after being removed from the truck in which death occurred. Two local physicians who examined the body and received an account of the death, concurred in this finding.

The Ford truck driven by Mr Smith swerved from S. Prospect-st into the driveway south of the Jones Bros. filling station at Prospect and Church-sts and crashed against a post standing near the filling station grease rack. The driver was dead when witnesses reached his side a moment later.

Columbus, Mar. 5—State Treasurer Bert B. Buckley today broadcast an invitation to bankers to bid for state funds. Buckley announced that bids will be received between 1 o'clock next Monday afternoon and the same hour on Mar. 25.

These bids will include the amount of annual interest bidders are willing to pay on deposits of state funds, and moneys from the Ohio Workmen's Compensation, or State Insurance, and the State Teachers' Retirement Funds.

Ohio laws provide for submission of these bids every two years. At the last bidding, in 1925, bids were submitted by 350 Ohio banks, the interest rate varying from 3 to 5 55 per cent.

Buckley was unable to indicate the amount of money which will be available for inactive deposits. He said that while some state funds ought to be available, he declared that there will be very little if any, money available for inactive deposits from the State Insurance and Teachers' Retirement Funds.

PLAN NEW EQUIPMENT FOR MATERNITY WARD

Redecorating of Part of City Hospital Also Discussed by Commissioners

Plans for installation of additional equipment in the maternity ward at City Hospital and for redecorating work in part of the building were discussed at a meeting of the board of hospital commissioners held yesterday in the office of Mayor Earl M. Hazen.

A part of the cost of the maternity ward equipment is to be paid from a fund established by a legacy of several thousand dollars left to the hospital several years ago by the late Mrs. Anna G. Salmon. Use of some of this fund has been delayed by court proceedings involving Mrs. Salmon's estate. The litigation has been practically ended and the maternity ward fund will now be available, it is stated.

This meeting was the first held since A. J. Berry, manager of the Marion County Telephone Co., was appointed to membership as successor to Judge Charles L. Justice, who resigned several weeks ago. Those attending the meeting were Mr. Berry, Mayor Hazen, who is president of the board by virtue of his office, Josiah Bandler, J. F. Prendergast, and Frank Wendemann. Charles M. Tobin, city relief officer, is clerk.

Sosnowski Rebecca lodge family supper, Tuesday night, March 8 at I. O. O. F. hall, N. Main-st, 5 to 7.30. Everybody invited. Adv.

INDUSTRIAL STOCKS IN LATEST MARKET RALLY

Heavy Profit-Taking and Short Selling in Evidence on Exchange

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks inactive; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds firm; foreign bonds steady; grain irregular; copper firm, oil weak; cotton steady; rubber steady; sugar firm; pig iron steady, foreign exchange fairly steady.

New York, Mar. 5—Industrial stocks which led the latest rally in prices felt the weight of heavy profit taking and short selling in the abbreviated session of the market today. The scale of prices was slightly higher at the opening, but selling orders flooded the market, and the whole list turned reactionary.

The week-end business reports were generally favorable, calling attention to the larger operations of the steel mills, and predicting a prompt revival of spring business at the usual time. The second reduction in crude oil prices was announced by Mid Continent petroleum buyers; this was in line with expectations and the effect on the oil stocks was eligible.

Commodity prices have made a slight recession during the week, foodstuffs were unchanged as a whole and copper metal regained more of the ground lost during February. Cotton and grain prices were steady in an inactive and featureless market.

Stocks of the rubber and tire companies continued to display the firm tone which has been characteristic of this group in the last two weeks. United States Rubber, Goodrich, Kelly-Springfield and Fisk rubber sold up about a point on the average, while the motor accessory stocks, like Timken and Stewart Warner declined 1 to 4 points.

Bear "drives" against various active industrials and specialties netted good results for the professionals. General Motors was driven back from 169 to 166, and moderate losses were sustained by U. S. Steel, Crucible and other bullish standard bearers of the past week or two.

The market was almost completely professional, and price movements were therefore meaningless. A drive against the shorts in Houston oil resulted in a new gain of 10 points, the stock advancing in fairly heavy buying to 110. Bush Terminal, the new "mystery stock," advanced to 42 in continuance of the forward movement which has brought the stock up from below 20. Continental Baking recovered a few points of Friday's loss and Remington Typewriter was a strong spot in the high-priced industrials.

Buying a Used Car With an Open Eye

THE SHREWD buyer of a used car doesn't trust the eye too far. Outward appearance is but one of the many things to be considered in the purchase of a motor car, for sometimes looks are deceiving; frequently a coat of glaring paint will cover a multitude of mechanical imperfections. Sometimes beauty is only varnish deep.

Everyone desires to drive a car that looks right, but it takes far more than looks to render safe, economical transportation over thousands of miles of all kinds of roads. What the eye sees on the surface of a used car should be but one of many considerations.

After all, it's the things the eye doesn't see that build the elements of greatest worth into a car that someone else has driven. Looks alone have led many buyers to make bad selections and so—it doesn't pay to trust the eye too far.

The careful buyer of a used car does business with a dealer he can trust to tell him the truth about the things the eye cannot see. Those who aren't so particular where they buy pay a high premium on careless purchasing.

Let us prove that we give you most for your money while at the same time making it very easy for you to own and pay for a good used car. Our sales policy puts you behind the wheel of your own car without any financial burden. Hundreds of satisfied owners will tell you that we treat you right. We make our best money through building confidence on the basis of honest values at lowest costs.

EXPECT VOTE ON SUNDAY DANCE BILL IN 10 DAYS

H. E. Hill, Author of Proposal, Says Chances for Passage Excellent

The bill introduced in the state legislature by H. E. Hill, representative from Marion County, to prohibit public dances and roller skating on Sunday, is expected to come to a vote in the house within the next 10 days and has excellent prospects of passage in that branch of the Ohio General Assembly, Mr. Hill stated at his law office here today.

The bill, which has stirred up widespread interest throughout the state and was the subject of lively discussions at two committee hearing during the last few weeks, is not to be regarded as a radical reform measure but as merely an attack upon commercialized Sunday dancing and roller skating, its author says.

"This measure has a much broader significance," Mr. Hill stated. "Its purpose is to prevent a complete breaking down of proper Sabbath observance in Ohio. The situation is steadily approaching the point where pleasure seeking and moneymaking will be more accentuated on Sunday than any other day of the week and the hall now under consideration is a move to check this dismal trend."

There is a possibility Mr. Hill said that the measure may reach a vote in the house next week. It has been assigned to an early date for consideration and just what place it will be given on the house calendar is undetermined. There are approximately a hundred measures under consideration at the House.

Mr. Hill is here during the legislature's week-end recess and returns to Columbus Monday morning.

BURIAL OF DYER BIRD SHOWN IN WAR FILM

Scene Is Matter of Record in Picture Brought Here by Rainbow Women

"America Under Fire," which opens a two-day engagement Monday at the Grand under the auspices of the Marion Chapter, Red Cross Women of Marion should prove of more interest to the people of Marion than any other exhibition of the character coming to the city, in that a great many ex-service men who served with the 166th Ohio Infantry, Rainbow Division, are shown somewhere in France on the battle lines in "America Under Fire."

One particularly interesting scene is a matter of record in the War Department at Washington; that Marion County gave one of her sons, the first to fall and pay the supreme sacrifice. Tyer J. Bird of Broadway, Ohio, a member of Company D, 166th Ohio Infantry, 42nd or Rainbow Division. Realizing this fact, Corporal Ingleston procured from the war department a section of film showing the funeral and burial of Private Bird. It is also a matter of record that this scene cost the life of a Signal Corps photographer as the echo of the last rites of the soldier, the firing squad, had hardly died away, when the German batteries threw a storm of lead and high explosive shell into the village that had been the scene of Private Bird's burial, sprinkling the mound of the Rainbow's first heroic sacrifice with lead.

In this remarkable picture will be found every element that went to make up the greatest war and the largest sacrifice of human life, the greatest destruction of property, that has ever been known in the history of man. The terrible destruction of modern artillery, battles in the clouds, chlorine and mustard gas attacks, the deadly hand grenade, the murderous machine guns, the bayonet charge and liquid fire, are all a part of "America Under Fire."
